MCNAMEE MEDIATIONS

Are you scared about the potential cost and the emotional damage to your family that comes with divorce litigation when separating from your partner? Divorce mediation with Colleen McNamee may be the right solution for you. Working with a Certified Divorce Mediation Specialist is an alternative to traditional divorce litigation. Colleen, owner of McNamee Mediations for 15 years, is a trained neutral third party who helps you negotiate an Agreement that works for both parties. She guides you through what can be potentially volatile issues like child support, custody, visitation, alimony and property division, to reach a resolution.

The cost of divorce mediation is far less than litigating your separation, the process is completed in the privacy of our offices start to finish—no courtrooms, and a Settlement Agreement is then custom tailored specifically for you and your spouse. These are just some of the reasons mediation is such a popular alternative here in the Orange County area for many families.

Call or email Colleen and she'll be happy to answer any questions you have and help you to decide whether mediation is right for you.
